

Purse Scavenger Hunt

This is a purse scavenger hunt to play as teams when women are seated at round tables. Number the tables and give each table a sheet of paper with their number on it. They have to hold up their number once they have found what you requested. They have to stand up and yell yahoo or hallelujah (or whatever fits your group) to get your attention. This adds to the general chaos and is really fun. If your group is smaller, you can even have one representative from each team run up to you holding the necessary items and their team number card.

The first table to yell "Hallelujah" gets 10 points, the second gets 5 points, the third gets 3 points. You can call out the table numbers to indicate who came in first, second and third.

Teams have to produce multiple items on each turn.

RULES:

Tell them they can't just hold up their purse and say "I've got three coupons in here!" They have to have the items in their hot little hands.

And don't stand up until you have all the items in your hands.

They need someone to always hold up the team number so you can see which table number came in first, second and third.

IMPORTANT RULE: They can't start gathering stuff up until you finish the request and say "Ready, set, go!" That way they hear the whole request.
